

Hollweg Resignation Has Been Accepted By The Kaiser

Hindenberg And Ludendorff Called To Berlin For Conference.—Second Call To Headquarters In Week

ANOTHER GERMAN NEWSPAPER STOPPED

Copenhagen, July 14—Chancellor Hollweg's resignation has been accepted according to the Berlin newspaper Tagliche Rundschau. The Tagliche Rundschau is a national liberal organ and has been very accurate in governmental news.

Field Marshal Hindenberg and General Ludendorff arrived in Berlin and have begun a conference with the Crown Prince and the Kaiser, according to official dispatches received here. This is the second time in a week that Hindenberg and Ludendorff have been summoned from the front to Berlin under the Kaiser's orders.

The Berlin lokal Anseiger has been suppressed presumably because of its frank discussion of the peace and parliamentary situation in the present crisis.

Cablegram Says Chang Monarchists Have Surrendered To Republic

Washington, July 14—A cablegram to the Chinese embassy from Peking today said that Chang and his monarchal force surrendered July 12 with less than twelve soldiers and civilians injured. Chang has sought refuge in the Dutch legation at Peking. The republican cabinet has left Tien Tsin to resume their interrupted work in Peking.

Socialists Of Holland, England And Russia Invite Americans

Stockholm, July 14—A special invitation was issued today by the Dutch and Swedish socialists and the Russian Soldiers' & Workmen's delegates to American Socialists urging them to attend a conference August 15.

This probably means the Socialist peace conference called by the Russian parties.

German Minister To Argensine Called Their Ships "Rattraps"

Buenos Ayres, July 14—The German minister to Argentine sneeringly referred to the Argentine ships lost through torpedoing by German submarines as "rat traps."

This became known on the highest authority today and a break with Germany is only a matter of a few hours. Formal severance of relations is expected at any time. The German minister is said to have made the remark to President Irigoyen.

Argentina has failed to receive any reply from Berlin to the ultimatum demanding damages for the ships sunk and definite promises of further safety for shipping.

French National Fete Shows Ties That Bind

Paris Decorated With American Emblems And Washington Honored

Paris, July 14.—The French national fete day, in observance of the anniversary of fall of the Bastille, was celebrated today throughout the country in the traditional manner. Everywhere the joyousness of the occasion and the general enthusiasm reflected the hopeful spirit that has seized the French people since the United States joined the Allies. American emblems were to be encountered at every turn in streets of Paris today, while every appearance of the American soldiers was greeted with the wildest enthusiasm. Another outward and visible sign of the strong ties of friendship that bind the two republics was furnished by the official medal struck off by the French Government in commemoration of the day. On one side the medal bears the arms of the city of Paris, while on the reverse appear the profiles of Washington and Lafayette. Hundreds of thousands of these medals were sold in the streets today the proceeds to be applied to the different war charities in Paris.

Participation by the American contingent helped to make an unusually brilliant success of the review of troops at Longchamps, always the spectacular feature of the national fete day. The "Sammies," as the American troops have come to be known here, made a smart appearance on the field. General Pershing shared with President Poincare the enthusiastic acclaim of the assembled crowd, estimated at upwards of half a million people. The diplomat representative of the allied nations, including Ambassador Sharp, occupied places in the Presidential box.

Camp Fire Girls Give Entertainment

Young Folks Delighted Their Friends Last Evening

The Camp Fire Girls delighted a fair sized audience at the West Side church last evening, the occasion being an entertainment for the purpose of realizing sufficient funds with which to purchase regalia for the members of that camp.

A most entertaining musical program was given and every one taking part acquitted themselves in a manner to reflect great credit not alone upon the performers but their tutors as well.

The different musical numbers were given in costume and this very clever feature added greatly to the enjoyment of all. The impersonations were very good in every detail.

Those participating were: A soldier Miss Wava Brown. Modern young man Miss Maud Waple. Negro mammy Genevieve Krumer. Quakeress and farmer girl.

This little pantomime was given under the direction of Mrs. Paul Flaharty assisted by the Sunday School orchestra and Misses Mabel Campbell and Media Shaw and Mr. Barnes as soloists.

The platform was very artistically decorated with mountain laurels and ferns, with a large flag in the center. The beautiful lighting effects with red, purple and green lights was very nicely arranged by Mr. Flaharty.

PLEASANT SURPRISE PARTY

A most delightful surprise party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Ross last evening at their home on West Fifth avenue in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Sixty-five of their friends were there and presented them with beautiful gifts of silver.

A most enjoyable evening was spent, there being plenty of music furnished for their entertainment and lots of fun for all.

The refreshments were delicious. At a late hour the guests departed wishing the happy couple the best of luck and much happiness.

CAR ROBBERS BUSY

Car robbers pulled off a neat job in the New York Central yards one night early this week. A hole was sawed in the end of a freight car on one of the side tracks in the yard and goods to the value of several hundred dollars were taken.

Railroad detectives are at work on the case and as they have some pretty strong clues arrests are liable to happen in the near future.

EDISON MAY YET BECOME SAVIOR OF THE ALLIES

Westinghouse Interests Trying To Get 1,000 Men To Enlist For Ten Months

LOCAL MAN HAS APPLICATION

Pittsburgh, July 14—The Westinghouse interests here are seeking 1,000 men who are willing to sign an agreement to enter a new plant to be built for the manufacture of war munitions by a secret process and remain imprisoned for ten months, all communication with the outside world to be shut off.

Men who have been approached were told that the plant will manufacture a powerful implement of war and the secret must be guarded until the government sees fit to make the details public. Only those workmen and officials to be engaged in the production of the new weapon will know its character and the details of manufacture.

Recreation and entertainment of every possible sort will be furnished the isolated employees. Pay double that they now get is guaranteed, and bonuses will be paid for high production. Only picked men whose Americanism is unquestioned and whose skill in their respective vocations is of the highest will be employed.

Officials of the Westinghouse interests today refused to talk. An artisan of high standing, who was approached by the Westinghouse agents, said he had received an intimation that the new plant would turn out, in large quantities, one of the late inventions of Thomas A. Edison.

William Maxwell, General Manager of Thomas A. Edison, Inc., said at the convention of Edison Phonograph dealers at the Waldorf-Astoria last night:

There is a man, an old man, over in Jersey who is working hard for Uncle Sam. At the moment he is the most important man in the country next to President Wilson. I believe he may soon become the most important figure in the Nation. That is all I can say now.

A. Roy Chase, son of John M. Chase of Fourth street, has already made application and been accepted as one of the force of one thousand men whom the Westinghouse people are endeavoring to secure to go into one of their plants near Pittsburgh and agree to stay right there and work ten months on the manufacture of a secret war instrument the product of the brain of Thomas A. Edison, the great electrical wizard.

The work of selecting this huge corps of men who are willing to give up ten months of their time to serving their country in this manner is going rapidly ahead and the work will be begun just as soon as the required number of applications are passed upon and the proper contracts signed.

Brake Adept at Art of Dodging Fragments

Pennsy. Freight Wrought Havoc With City Traffic In Transit

City Engineer E. W. Hess is going to get himself a new transit right away. The occasion for this expenditure is due to a little affair which occurred at the Spruce street crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad yesterday afternoon. The borough authorities are setting the curb on Spruce street preparatory to paving and yesterday afternoon Engineer Hess and his assistants were busily engaged laying out curb lines on the street.

They were doing some ciphering at the crossing about 2:30 after running their lines that far and had their transit resting on the ends of the ties. While busily engaged with their figures they failed to notice the Osceola local freight creeping down the line at about a 30 mile gait. Just before the engine reached the crossing they remembered alright, but it was then too late to save anything but their necks and the whole crew was forced to run for their lives.

There was some smash when the engine struck the transit and logs and arms went flying in every direction. One of the brakemen was riding on the front of the engine and he had the time of his life dodging fragments. Talk about bayonet practice; it had nothing on this poor brackey's experience. He was an artful dodger and escaped with a whole hide but said those splinters of wood and metal were thicker than quills on a porcupine for a few minutes. But you should have seen that transit.

Local Soldier Boys Respond To The Call

Boal Machine Gun Co. And Tenth Regiment Recruits Leave

The six local members of the Boal Machine Gun Troop left this morning for Boalsburg, Pa., on their way to join their company and from thence to the training camp for the Pennsylvania National Guard at Augusta, Ga. Following their training camp course the boys will accompany the Pennsylvania troops to the battlefields of Europe.

A large crowd of people was at the train to say good bye and wish the boys God-speed on their journey and a safe return when the war is over if the God of battles wills it so.

Last evening the boys were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Barratt, whose son Willard is a member of the local contingent. An excellent dinner was served and all spent a joyous evening. Those present were: Willard Kent, Willard Barratt, Harry Flaharty, Hayes Wilson, Bruce Jacobs, Morris Rauch, Hannah Barton, Fannie Shunk, Anna Wilson, Lena Wilson, John Walters of Osceola; Francis Etzweiler, Lloyd Owens, Hazel Barratt and Rosella Kepler, of DuBois.

Jimmy Young, Henry Highfield, David McCullough and David Wright were accorded quite a send-off at the B. R. & P. station at 11:44 when they departed to join Co. H of the Tenth Regiment at Indiana. The platform was crowded with the friends of these fine young men who had gathered to say "good bye, good luck, God bless you."

New Russian Government Gives The Prohibition Movement Impetus

Correspondent Find Prohibitionists Are For The Whole People Now And Not For Privileged Few

BOOZELESS RUSSIA—BLOODLESS REVOLUTION

By William G. Shepherd (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Petrograd, June 12.—By Mail—Russia never has been dry. Under the old censorship of the days of czarism no correspondent would have been permitted to send this fact to the outside world. But now the truth may be told.

The Russian government officials discovered that it pleased the czar greatly to be placed before the outside world as being the sponsor of prohibition, in Russia and they did all they could in the way of giving out erroneous impressions as to the extent of the dry wave in Russia.

Russia did go dry—for the peasants. But the czar's famous prohibition law was so arranged that any man with money enough could get all the liquor he desired. The government manufacture of vodka stopped and a law was passed prohibiting the sale of any liquor for more than 2 per cent. of the population. The price of vodka went up to $25 a bottle. The price of wine in proportion. The price of cabarets, hotels and restaurants went up. In China, Japan, China cups, but everywhere the liquor orders filled to the brim. (Continued from page two)

Young Men: You Cannot Volunteer After Your Number Has Been Drafted

In conformity with War Department communication of June 6th, 1917, the following instructions are published for information and guidance of all concerned:

The fact that a person has registered under the provisions of the Selective Service law, approved May 18th 1917, does not constitute a bar to his voluntary enlistment in the regular army or National Guard. However, when such registered persons shall have been actually selected and drafted for military service in the forces to be raised under the Selective Service law the privilege of voluntary enlistment in the regular army and National Guard ceases with reference to the individuals thus drafted.

Many Sections Of Country Are Protesting Paper Population

By Webb Miller

Washington, July 14. Telegrams and letters from all sections of the country against the Census Bureau's "paper population" estimates for the draft is flooding the war department today. Many cities and counties declare they are too high while some say they are outrageous.

This will increase the quota and some cities contend they are called upon to give more than their share. Some of the middle west cities do not believe they should be taxed so hard on account of the heavy registration. In announcing the estimates the census bureau intends that they should be used solely for the draft. The figures are based on the registration and the temporary population. Detroit fails to see why when her population was 850,000 it is now estimated at 1,521,942 for the draft.

BRITISH WARSHIP BLOWS UP; 773 MAY HAVE LOST LIVES

Vessel's Complement in Peace was 870 and 97 are Known to Have Survived; Explosion Mystery

London, July 13.—The British battleship Vanguard blew up and sank on July 9, says an official statement issued tonight by the British admiralty.

An internal explosion while the ship was at anchor caused the disaster to the Vanguard. Only three men of those on board survived and one of them has since died. Twenty-four officers and seventy-one men, however, were not on board at the time of the explosion.

The official statement reads: "H. M. S. Vanguard, Captain James D. Dick, blew up while at anchor on the night of July 9 as the result of an internal explosion.

"The ship sank immediately and there were only three survivors among those aboard ship at the time of the disaster—one officer and two men. The officer has since died. There were, however, twenty-four officers and seventy-one men not on board at the time, thus bringing the total number of survivors to ninety-seven.

A full inquiry has been ordered."

The Vanguard displaced 19,250 tons and its complement before the war was 870 men. On this basis 773 or more men may have died in the explosion. The Vanguard belonged to the B. C. Vincent class of dreadnoughts, 18-inch guns, eighteen 4-inch and four 6-inch secondary guns. The Vanguard was 536 feet long with a beam of 84 feet and a draught of 27 feet. Its armament consisted of ten 1-pounders, in addition to three torpedo tubes.

WILSON TAKES A HAND IN ARIZONA RIOTS

Phoenix, Ariz., July 13.—Governor Campbell this morning received the following message from President Wilson:

"Secretary of War has instructed General Parker to send officers to Arizona at once to report to him conditions there with a view to co-operating in the maintenance of order.

"Meantime may I not respectfully urge the great danger of citizens taking the law into their own hands, as your report indicates their having done. I look upon such actions with grave apprehensions. A very serious responsibility is assumed when such precedents are set."

GOETHALS TO RUSH SHIPS BY HUNDRED

Will Build Two Big Government Yards Quickly to Turn Out 400 Steel Vessels

Washington, D. C., July 13.—An announcement was made tonight by Major General George W. Goethals, manager of the Shipping Board's Emergency Fleet corporation, that on Monday he will offer contracts for construction of two government shipbuilding plants to produce 400 steel merchant ships.

The announcement was made in a letter Chairman Denman, of the shipping board, which outlined the general's entire shipbuilding program under authority given the Fleet corporation yesterday by President Wilson. Within 18 months, the General said, he expects to turn out 3,000,000 tons of shipping.

On Monday, General Goethals also will outline to the country's shipbuilders his plans for commandeering 500,000 tons of shipping under construction for private account. This will be taken over completely and its reconstruction expedited by giving government contracts. As soon as the yards are cleared, each will be directed to start building a standardized ship.

The Fleet corporation, General Goethals announced, will continue to let all contracts for wooden ships of a design approved by the corporation's architect, for which bids can be obtained by responsible bidders. Additional contracts for both fabricated and wooden vessels, General Goethals says, will require more than Congress has authorized.

Lesson III.—Third Quarter, For July 15, 1917.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, II Chron. xxx, 1-13. Memory Verses, 11, 12—Golden Text, Heb. xi, 6—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The story of Hezekiah, son of Ahaz, who reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem and who did right in the sight of the Lord, working good and right and truth before the Lord his God and doing it with all his heart, so that there was none like him among all the kings of Judah either before him or after him in the matter of trusting in the Lord God of Israel (II Chron. xxx, 2; xxxi, 20, 21; II Kings xviii, 5), occupies eleven chapters of Scripture (II Kings xviii-xx; II Chron. xxx-xxxii; Isa. xxxvi-xxxix). When we consider that these kings were spoken of as sitting on the throne of the Lord, to be kings for the Lord their God (I Chron. xxi, 23; II Chron. ix, 8), we see more clearly the monstrous sin of Ahaz and the great contrast in his son, whose name signifies the strength of Jehovah and which he so well illustrated during the greater part of his life. Our lesson chapter tells of the great passover which he kept for all Israel from Dan to Beersheba, and this feast always points us in three directions—to the night of the nation's birth, to Christ our passover crucified for us and to the rebirth of the nation in the future when they shall be gathered from all nations and the passover shall be fulfilled in the kingdom of God.

Let us look a little at the rest of his story before we take up the day's lesson. He began his good reign by opening the doors of the house of the Lord, which his wicked father had closed up, and by cleansing the temple of its filthiness, which occupied them sixteen days (xxix, 3-5, 17). He set the priests and Levites to work with the inspiring and encouraging words of xxix, 11, and, having restored the vessels which his father had cast away, he made atonement for all Israel and had the true worship restored with praises and gladness and rejoicing (xxix, 24, 30, 30). Then they kept the great passover, sending invitations throughout all Israel and Judah, urging all to turn to the Lord God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel and yield themselves unto the Lord (xxx, 1-9).

Although some laughed the invitation to scorn and mocked, there were those of Asher and Manasseh and Zebulun who humbled themselves and came to Jerusalem to keep the feast (xxx, 10-12). They found such joy in keeping the feast of unleavened bread spake to the heart of all the Levites and the priests praising the Lord day by day and teaching the good knowledge of the Lord, and Hezekiah so spake to the heart of all the Levites, that the whole assembly took counsel to keep the feast seven days more, which they did with gladness, and there was not so great joy in Jerusalem since the time of Solomon. The praise and prayer were heard in heaven, the habitation of His holiness (xxx, 21-27). The contrast between this and the sin and unbelief and rebellion of Ahaz's reign helps us to understand just a little better the contrast between Israel's present unbelief and suffering and the time, drawing ever nearer, when they shall obtain joy and gladness and sorrow and sighing shall flee away (Isa. xxxv, 10; II, 11).

After this great passover and time of rejoicing there followed a cleansing of the land as far as possible from idolatry and idols, and the brazen serpent which Moses had made in the wilderness and which Israel was now worshipping as an idol was destroyed (xxx, 1; II Kings xviii, 4). Such a turning from idols to God to serve the Living and True God (I Thess. 1-9) was too much for the devil to take quietly, and so he stirred up Sennacherib and his hosts to go up against Jerusalem and with great blasphemy defy the Living God, the God of Israel. Hezekiah encouraged his princes and people with the words of chapter xxix, 7, 8, saying, "With him is an arm of flesh, but with us is the Lord our God to help us and to fight our battles." Hezekiah, the king, and the prophet Isaiah prayed and cried to heaven as they spread the wicked letters before the Lord and asked the Living God so to work on behalf of His people and because of His name, which had been so reproached, that which had been so reproached, that all the kingdoms of the earth might know that He was the Lord God, and He only (xxxii, 20; II Kings xix, 14-19).

Note the same great desire on the part of Joshua and David (Josh. iv, 24; I Sam. xvii, 46, 47). That God may be glorified should be the one and constant aim of every believer (Phil. i, 20; I Pet. iv, 14). That night the prayer of the king and the prophet was answered by the angel of the Lord passing over the Assyrian host and taking off the earth 185,000 men. Sennacherib returned to Nineveh and was slain by his own sons (II Kings xix, 35-37). The great of Hezekiah's story is not so honoring to the Lord. He became sick unto death and was told by Isaiah that his time had come to die. But he prayed to the Lord with sore weeping, and the Lord added to his life fifteen years and gave him a wonderful sign on the sundial (Isa. xxxviii, 1-8). Some of his words on this occasion are very memorable.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

For the Protection of Paige Purchasers

A Prophecy of Particular Interest to Prospective Motor Car Buyers

The Paige is practically the last to raise prices. We have stood the material raises patiently. At last we confront the inevitable.

However, you will observe in reading Paige prices below that in no instance has the increase been more than $100—although some cars in the same relative price class as the Paige now cost $200 more than heretofore. We are able to give Paige purchasers this discrimination because they are getting the benefit of the prices at which we bought large quantities of materials on contract months ago.

This advance in the prices now asked for Paige cars by no means covers the actual increase in the cost of materials. The Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company is still making a substantial sacrifice in offering Paige cars at these prices.

These Paige cars are therefore more remarkable values than ever before—and the Paige, you know, has always led the field in values.

There has been no compromise in Paige quality, no juggling of the factors, little or big, that have won Paige leadership. Not one iota has the Paige standard been lowered.

In view of these facts, Paige cars remain at the present prices the greatest dollar for dollar value the market affords.

However, the market for materials is rising steadily. The cost of producing a car of Paige quality continues to soar. We estimate that we have enough materials contracted for and on hand to permit us to maintain present prices for approximately 60 to 90 days. When this supply of materials is exhausted, it will then, obviously, be necessary for us to raise prices, and even then Paige prices will be raised only in proportion to the increased prices of materials on new contracts.

Our one anxiety, as has always been our policy, is to give Paige purchasers every protection and consideration. We desire to be frank and give fair warning.

The price problem, however, is never a determining factor in the progress of the Paige in winning the preference and confidence of the public. The Paige has always won its way independent of price tags and the artificial labels of price class.

We have always refused and will always refuse to raise Paige prices beyond the actual increased cost of materials.

Therefore, now, as before, you will select the Paige because of its mechanical excellence, its beauty and its supreme quality.

Particular attention to mechanical detail has made this Favorite Thresher a success. The motive power for the screen is an eccentric movement which does away with broken shafts just when you are the busiest.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

June 28, 1917.

Dear Mother—

I thought I would drop you a few lines to let you know that I am well and hope that you are all the same, and say mother don't send any more of those stamps for they are no good here. Look at the envelope that this letter is in and you will see that the stamp is different from the U. S. stamps.

We are going on the range to shoot next month and after I am thru I will write to you and let you know how I make out, whether I make a marksman or not.

Well mother I like the army so far and you know what people say about the food. Well, that is a lie for we get as good a grade of food as they get in the states.

I have five uniforms and two wool

shirts that if you had to buy would cost four dollars, and three pairs of shoes that will cost about $6, eight suits of underwear, 2 hats that will cost five dollars each and I have eight dollars due from the government besides my pay.

I am going hunting next Saturday and Sunday. I will try and get the captain's picture if I can.

Well I guess I will close for this time, but before I close I want to ask you to send me some papers.

I got a letter from Will the other day and he said to let him know if I wanted anything and I told him that I wanted some Camels to smoke.

Good by.

TODAY'S THRIFT THOUGHT

Do you throw away "ham gravy" or bacon fat, Madam Housewife? because it is too greasy for ordinary use? Here is a way suggested to make it blend into soups or gravies instead of floating as a greasy layer on top.

Stir into each two tablespoons of melted grease one-half tablespoon of flour. The mixture will blend easily into milk soups, stock soups, sauces or gravies and give an appetizing flavor.

Flour $3.50 per sack at the Workman's Cash stores.

ON THE SCREEN

"A WOMAN'S AWAKENING" BRINGS SEENA OWEN

"A Woman's Awakening," the Triangle Fine-Arts picture directed by Chester Withey and starring Seena Owen, which will be shown at the Tent theatre Monday presents the problem of a young woman attempting to maintain her ideals and independence after marriage to a young rake, whose only aim is to dissipate her fortune.

The role is an admirable one for the return of Miss Owen to the screen after a retirement of several months. She is surrounded by a cast that includes Alma Rueben, heroine of "The Americano," A. D. Sears, Kate Brice and Alberta Lee.

The story, which is the work of Frank E. Woods, concerns a young girl reared in the secluded manner of the old school so that she knows nothing of the worldly life. She marries a young society man, who promises to introduce her to the "real world" where men and women enjoy perfect equality. But he soon reveals that he married her only for her money.

The girl's mother is an invalid, and the only friend to whom she may have recourse for advice is a lawyer and a former admirer of her. One night the husband is murdered just as he is preparing to leave the house with the balance of his wife's fortune. Both the wife and the lawyer are suspected of the crime. The spectators, as well as the characters of the play, are mystified until the big moment of revelation.

Lotta Savings Is Unquestionably a Dominating Influence In The Success of Our July Clearance

When we adopted the character of "Lotta Savings" to typify the many saving opportunities of our July Clearance, we must admit we did not realize the force and the dominating influence she would have on the values we were compelled to provide. Having incorporated "Lotta Savings" as an authority at our July Clearance, it is only natural that we insist that the values be in complete harmony with the idea. That our customers have been eager to seize the opportunity to save, need not be gone into here. A visit to our store any day will convince you at once that the values are such as to influence continuous and liberal purchasing.

In many cases the lots are too small to advertise, but you will find the savings just as big as any we have advertised in previous announcements.

Hollweg Resignation Has Been Accepted By The Kaiser

Hindenberg And Ludendorff Called To Berlin For Conference.—Second Call To Headquarters In Week

ANOTHER GERMAN NEWSPAPER STOPPED

Copenhagen, July 14—Chancellor Hollweg's resignation has been accepted according to the Berlin newspaper Tagliche Rundschau. The Tagliche Rundschau is a national liberal organ and has been very accurate in governmental news.

Field Marshal Hindenberg and General Ludendorff arrived in Berlin and have begun a conference with the Crown Prince and the Kaiser, according to official dispatches received here. This is the second time in a week that Hindenberg and Ludendorff have been summoned from the front to Berlin under the Kaiser's orders.

The Berlin lokal Anseiger has been suppressed presumably because of its frank discussion of the peace and parliamentary situation in the present crisis.

Cablegram Says Chang Monarchists Have Surrendered To Republic

Washington, July 14—A cablegram to the Chinese embassy from Peking today said that Chang and his monarchal force surrendered July 12 with less than twelve soldiers and civilians injured. Chang has sought refuge in the Dutch legation at Peking. The republican cabinet has left Tien Tsin to resume their interrupted work in Peking.

Socialists Of Holland, England And Russia Invite Americans

Stockholm, July 14—A special invitation was issued today by the Dutch and Swedish socialists and the Russian Soldiers' & Workmen's delegates to American Socialists urging them to attend a conference August 15.

This probably means the Socialist peace conference called by the Russian parties.

German Minister To Argensine Called Their Ships "Rattraps"

Buenos Ayres, July 14—The German minister to Argentine sneeringly referred to the Argentine ships lost through torpedoing by German submarines as "rat traps."

This became known on the highest authority today and a break with Germany is only a matter of a few hours. Formal severance of relations is expected at any time. The German minister is said to have made the remark to President Irigoyen.

Argentina has failed to receive any reply from Berlin to the ultimatum demanding damages for the ships sunk and definite promises of further safety for shipping.

Enlistment Notes

Charles E. McKendrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McKendrick enlisted in Co. L of the Eighteenth Regiment, having gone to Pittsburgh today to take the final examination.

Burton O. Duffy, of Woodland, who has held a responsible position with the First National Bank of Patton, has joined the colors and leaves his home tomorrow morning to go to headquarters at Altoona.

Dorsey Polkinghorn, of Woodland left last evening to join his fellow members of the Bealsburg Machine Gun Company. Blake Shugarts and Andrew McGaughey of Boggs township are also members of the machine gun company.

TRANSFERRED TO THIS DISTRICT

A. G. Woodward, of Curwensville, who is connected with the State Pure Food department, who formerly had his headquarters at Williamsport, has been assigned to the counties of Clearfield, Jefferson, Elk and Cameron, and will henceforth be able to make his headquarters at his home town. Mr. Woodward is a highly efficient officer.

French National Fete Shows Ties That Bind

Paris Decorated With American Emblems And Washington Honored

Paris, July 14.—The French national fete day, in observance of the anniversary of fall of the Bastille, was celebrated today throughout the country in the traditional manner. Everywhere the joyousness of the occasion and the general enthusiasm reflected the hopeful spirit that has seized the French people since the United States joined the Allies. American emblems were to be encountered at every turn in streets of Paris today, while every appearance of the American soldiers was greeted with the wildest enthusiasm. Another outward and visible sign of the strong ties of friendship that bind the two republics was furnished by the official medal struck off by the French Government in commemoration of the day. On one side the medal bears the arms of the city of Paris, while on the reverse appear the profiles of Washington and Lafayette. Hundreds of thousands of these medals were sold in the streets today the proceeds to be applied to the different war charities in Paris.

Participation by the American contingent helped to make an unusually brilliant success of the review of troops at Longchamps, always the spectacular feature of the national fete day. The "Sammys," as the American troops have come to be known here, made a smart appearance on the field. General Pershing shared with President Poincare the enthusiastic acclaim of the assembled crowd, estimated at upwards of half a million people. The diplomat representative of the allied nations, including Ambassador Sharp, occupied places in the Presidential box.

Camp Fire Girls Give Entertainment

Young Folks Delighted Their Friends Last Evening

The Camp Fire Girls delighted a fair sized audience at the West Side church last evening, the occasion being an entertainment for the purpose of realizing sufficient funds with which to purchase regalia for the members of that camp.

A most entertaining musical program was given and every one taking part acquitted themselves in a manner to reflect great credit not alone upon the performers but their tutors as well.

The different musical numbers were given in costume and this very clever feature added greatly to the enjoyment of all. The impersonations were very good in every detail.

Those participating were: A soldier Miss Wava Brown. Modern young man Miss Maud Waple. Negro mammy Genevieve Krumer. Quakeress and farmer girl.

This little pantomime was given under the direction of Mrs. Paul Flaharty assisted by the Sunday School orchestra and Misses Mabel Campbell and Media Shaw and Mr. Barnes as soloists.

The platform was very artistically decorated with mountain laurels and ferns, with a large flag in the center. The beautiful lighting effects with red, purple and green lights was very nicely arranged by Mr. Flaharty.

PLEASANT SURPRISE PARTY

A most delightful surprise party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Ross last evening at their home on West Fifth avenue in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Sixty-five of their friends were there and presented them with beautiful gifts of silver.

A most enjoyable evening was spent, there being plenty of music furnished for their entertainment and lots of fun for all.

The refreshments were delicious. At a late hour the guests departed wishing the happy couple the best of luck and much happiness.

CAR ROBBERS BUSY

Car robbers pulled off a neat job in the New York Central yards one night early this week. A hole was sawed in the end of a freight car on one of the side tracks in the yard and goods to the value of several hundred dollars were taken.

Railroad detectives are at work on the case and as they have some pretty strong clues arrests are liable to happen in the near future.

EDISON MAY YET BECOME SAVIOR OF THE ALLIES

Westinghouse Interests Trying To Get 1,000 Men To Enlist For Ten Months

LOCAL MAN HAS APPLICATION

Pittsburgh, July 14—The Westinghouse interests here are seeking 1,000 men who are willing to sign an agreement to enter a new plant to be built for the manufacture of war munitions by a secret process and remain imprisoned for ten months, all communication with the outside world to be shut off.

Men who have been approached were told that the plant will manufacture a powerful implement of war and the secret must be guarded until the government sees fit to make the details public. Only those workmen and officials to be engaged in the production of the new weapon will know its character and the details of manufacture.

Recreation and entertainment of every possible sort will be furnished the isolated employees. Pay double that they now get is guaranteed, and bonuses will be paid for high production. Only picked men whose Americanism is unquestioned and whose skill in their respective vocations is of the highest will be employed.

Officials of the Westinghouse interests today refused to talk. An artisan of high standing, who was approached by the Westinghouse agents, said he had received an intimation that the new plant would turn out, in large quantities, one of the late inventions of Thomas A. Edison.

William Maxwell, General Manager of Thomas A. Edison, Inc., said at the convention of Edison Phonograph dealers at the Waldorf-Astoria last night:

There is a man, an old man, over in Jersey who is working hard for Uncle Sam. At the moment he is the most important man in the country next to President Wilson. I believe he may soon become the most important figure in the Nation. That is all I can say now.

A. Roy Chase, son of John M. Chase of Fourth street, has already made application and been accepted as one of the force of one thousand men whom the Westinghouse people are endeavoring to secure to go into one of their plants near Pittsburgh and agree to stay right there and work ten months on the manufacture of a secret war instrument the product of the brain of Thomas A. Edison, the great electrical wizard.

The work of selecting this huge corps of men who are willing to give up ten months of their time to serving their country in this manner is going rapidly ahead and the work will be begun just as soon as the required number of applications are passed upon and the proper contracts signed.

Brake Adept at Art of Dodging Fragments

Pennsy. Freight Wrought Havoc With City Traffic In Transit

City Engineer E. W. Hess is going to get himself a new transit right away. The occasion for this expenditure is due to a little affair which occurred at the Spruce street crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad yesterday afternoon. The borough authorities are setting the curb on Spruce street preparatory to paving and yesterday afternoon Engineer Hess and his assistants were busily engaged laying out curb lines on the street.

They were doing some ciphering at the crossing about 2:30 after running their lines that far and had their transit resting on the ends of the ties. While busily engaged with their figures they failed to notice the Osceola local freight creeping down the line at about a 30 mile gait. Just before the engine reached the crossing they remembered alright, but it was then too late to save anything but their necks and the whole crew was forced to run for their lives.

There was some smash when the engine struck the transit and logs and arms went flying in every direction. One of the brakemen was riding on the front of the engine and he had the time of his life dodging fragments. Talk about bayonet practice; it had nothing on this poor brackey's experience. He was an artful dodger and escaped with a whole hide but said those splinters of wood and metal were thicker than quills on a porcupine for a few minutes. But you should have seen that transit.

Local Soldier Boys Respond To The Call

Boal Machine Gun Co. And Tenth Regiment Recruits Leave

The six local members of the Boal Machine Gun Troop left this morning for Boalsburg, Pa., on their way to join their company and from thence to the training camp for the Pennsylvania National Guard at Augusta, Ga. Following their training camp course the boys will accompany the Pennsylvania troops to the battlefields of Europe.

A large crowd of people was at the train to say good bye and wish the boys God-speed on their journey and a safe return when the war is over if the God of battles wills it so.

Last evening the boys were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Barratt, whose son Willard is a member of the local contingent. An excellent dinner was served and all spent a joyous evening. Those present were: Willard Kent, Willard Barratt, Harry Flaharty, Hayes Wilson, Bruce Jacobs, Morris Rauch, Hannah Barton, Fannie Shunk, Anna Wilson, Lena Wilson, John Walters of Osceola; Francis Etzweiler, Lloyd Owens, Hazel Barratt and Rosella Kepler, of DuBois.

Jimmy Young, Henry Highfield, David McCullough and David Wright were accorded quite a send-off at the B. R. & P. station at 11:44 when they departed to join Co. H of the Tenth Regiment at Indiana. The platform was crowded with the friends of these fine young men who had gathered to say "good bye, good luck, God bless you."

New Russian Government Gives The Prohibition Movement Impetus

Correspondent Find Prohibitionists Are For The Whole People Not And Not For Privileged Few

BOOZELESS RUSSIA—BLOODLESS REVOLUTION

By William G. Shepherd (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Petrograd, June 12.—By Mail—Russia never has been dry. Under the old censorship of the days of czarism no correspondent would have been permitted to send this fact to the outside world. But now the truth may be told.

The Russian government officials discovered that it pleased the czar greatly to be placed before the outside world as being the sponsor of prohibition, in Russia and they did all they could in the way of giving out erroneous impressions as to the extent of the dry wave in Russia.

Russia did go dry—for the peasants. But the czar's famous prohibition law was so arranged that any man with money enough could get all the liquor he desired. The government manufacture of vodka stopped and a law was passed prohibiting the sale of any liquor. The importation of wine was stopped. The price of vodka went up to $25 a bottle. The prices in proportion. The cabarets, hotels and restaurants served wines in China, glass China cups, but everywhere the money was able to buy liquor orders filled to his whim.

Foreigners were permitted to chase all liquors in the shops and they presented permits to chase issued by their consuls. There was no law of any kind. (Continued from page two)

Young Men: You Cannot Volunteer After Your Number Has Been Drafted

In conformity with War Department communication of June 6th, 1917, the following instructions are published for information and guidance of all concerned:

The fact that a person has registered under the provisions of the Selective Service law, approved May 18th 1917, does not constitute a bar to his voluntary enlistment in the regular army or National Guard. However, when such registered persons shall have been actually selected and drafted for military service in the forces to be raised under the Selective Service law the privilege of voluntary enlistment in the regular army and National Guard ceases with reference to the individuals thus drafted.

Many Sections Of Country Are Protesting Paper Population

By Webb Miller

Washington, July 14. Telegrams and letters from all sections of the country against the Census Bureau's "paper population" estimates for the draft is flooding the war department today. Many cities and counties declare they are too high while some say they are outrageous.

This will increase the quota and some cities contend they are called upon to give more than their share. Some of the middle west cities do not believe they should be taxed so hard on account of the heavy registration. In announcing the estimates the census bureau intends that they should be used solely for the draft. The figures are based on the registration and the temporary population. Detroit fails to see why when her population was 850,000 it is now estimated at 1,521,942 for the draft.

Abacilles or rascals who speak of this as a "rich war" ought to take note of the number of rich men serving the Government for nothing or nominal number who have given their yachts to the Government and the number of corporations that are selling Government at cut prices. Early last spring the makers offered to make special prices to the Government. They have been selling to the Government at one-third, of what they have been asking private and getting from them. And now they are will furnish all the steel the Government wants and let the price after it has investigated the cost of production. The people are working for the nation under Democratic Administration as they never did before. The Liberty Loan, for example, which every financial institution in the United States acted as agent for, but any commission.

A WORTHY CHAMPION
 It is regrettable that fate willed it that Secretary of Interior Franklin K. Lane should be born in Canada, not in the United States. That puts him out of contention as a Presidential possibility and means that his citizenship ability must be content with lesser honors. This is the country's. No better statement has been made of the nation's carrying on the great business of war than Secretary Lane's. His championship of the American manufacturers and captains of industry who comprise the Advisory Commission of the National Council of Defense at a most opportune time, as some ill-advised persons have been insinuating that the motives actuating members of the Commission have not been above suspicion. No proof has ever been offered to support such accusation, which is particularly despicable at this time. Secretary Lane shows how little basis there is for and how great a debt the country owes to the business leaders who, without compensation and out of pure patriotism, are slaving away their summer at Washington in order that the United States may make war properly. All persons who may have been misled by mendacious correspondents' stories of tremendous friction and discord in Council of National Defense and the Advisory Commission should read this very lucid exposition of the Government's policy and of the manner in which it is being carried out. Mr. Lane always goes right to the heart of the matter and has a pleasing style that makes whatever he has to say readable.—Philadelphia Record.

WANT DAMAGES FOR FIRE
 Light & Krebs on behalf of I. J. Curwensville, brought Prothonotary's office this morning against the Pennsylvania Lumber company in which they ask $1200 damages for injury to growth on land located in Pike Township.
 The land in question is located on the right of way of the Pennsylvania just outside of Curwensville and the statement filed reads the fact that sparks from the company's engine set fire to the timber thereon three different times. The first time complained of on April 26, 1915; when a fire on the hill and entailed a loss of $100. On May 17, 1917, a second fire and a damage of 500 and on June 1, a third fire occasioned an actual loss of $200.

BOSS GOT A BATH
 Some boys drove a cow into the river near the bridge below the N. Y. C. yards yesterday afternoon and only the prompt action of passersby saved poor Bossy from a watery grave.
 The cow was pasturing on the river bank, being tethered to a peg by a chain attached to a strap around her neck. When the boys drove her in the chain caught on something in the water and the poor brute was drawn under from time to time. She was almost exhausted from her struggles when Verne Rowles waded in and after a great deal of effort succeeded in cutting the strap and liberating her.

Daddy's Bedtime Story— THE BELL IN YOUR HEART

What Splendor He Looked Down Upon!

[Adapted from Hans Christian Andersen.]

AFTER supper daddy told Jack and Evelyn this story: "All day long a king's son hunted through a great deep woods to find out where a mysterious bell was. When the sun went down he sank on his knees and said to himself: 'Never shall I find what I seek. Now the sun is setting, and night is coming on—the dark night. Perhaps I can catch one more glimpse of the red sun before it sinks below the earth if I climb those high rocks. They are almost as high as the trees.'"

"So the king's son seized roots and creepers and climbed up slippery stones where the water splashes, slipped in the slime and great toads croaked at him. But he reached the top before the sun went down. He had a habit of doing things on time, you see."

"From this new height what splendor he looked down upon! The wide ocean, the beautiful ocean, with its long waves rolling in toward shore, stretched before him. The sun seemed to stand still like a great shining altar out there where the earth and the sea met. Everything melted away into glowing colors, so that it did not seem any longer like the old earth made of dirt."

"The woods sang, and the ocean sang, and his own heart sang within him. All nature seemed to be a vast temple, with trees and floating clouds and sunset colors furnishing it. The trees were the pillars, the flowers and grass the tapestry, and the sky itself the beautiful dome."

"While the king's son stood looking at the lovely view the sun dipped behind the earth's rim, but millions of stars peeped out. They were like countless diamond lamps, and the king's son stretched out both his arms toward the sea and the sky and the forest."

"Just then something rustled, and from a right hand path up trudged a poor boy with the short sleeves and wooden shoes. They had parted company a long way below. One had gone to the left and the other to the right. But both had reached the high place at about the same time, you see."

"When the king's son saw him he ran toward him and clasped him by the hands. He was so glad to find a comrade that he almost cried right there in the beautiful still night."

"So you got here, too, and I'm so glad," he said. And while the two lads stood there together they both heard the mysterious bell ringing. It sounded across the beautiful dark and rang like an echo from the forest, from the sky and from their hearts."

"Why, daddy?" cried Jack.

"Because they loved and understood each other," said daddy.

New Russian Government Gives Prohibition Movement Impetus prevented a citizen from having liquor on his premises or from drinking it.

The revolution, which put the Workmen and Soldiers committee into power, practically made Russia dry for the first time. Today a few daring hotel keepers will sell a bottle of cognac for from twenty-five to forty dollars or a small bottle of ordinary claret for from ten to fifteen. The importation of any sort of portable alcohol has ceased and the high price of liquor is really due to its scarcity in the country. Russia is rapidly becoming "bone dry."

There is no doubt in the minds of Russians that their revolution was practically bloodless because it was practically boozeless. There are some Russian leaders who say that it was the absence of alcohol that made the revolution possible. A drunken sodden Russia of the old type could never have aroused itself to revolt as this Russia has done. A socialist leader said to me:

"One of the greatest mistakes the czar ever made was to force the peasants to sober up. He took the peasants and made them sober, he gave them good clothes in the way of military uniforms and he gave each peasant a rifle and taught him how to shoot. He thought he was turning the peasants into soldiers but they remained peasants at heart. When the right time came these sobered peasants turned their guns on him."

Colonel E. H. R. Green, son of Hetty Green, and heir to half her great fortune, was married in Chicago the other day to Miss Mabel E. Harlow of that city.

Because newspapers of the country said Colonel Green was one of the richest bachelors in the world he received no fewer than 9,000 letters from women. Each writer insisted she did, could or would love him.

The Cleveland Indians are not displaying the pay they did last season. It is doubtful if the Fohlies finish in the first division unless the team takes a decided brace.

Increase Fees Before Public Service Comm.

New Law Will Bring $12,000 More Revenue to the State

Harrisburg, July 13.—Between $12,000 and $15,000 additional revenue will accrue to the state as a result of the Ramsey Act increasing fees of the Public Service Commission, approved last week by the governor.

The new fees are as follows:
 For filing of each application for a certificate of public convenience, $5.
 For filing of each certificate of notification, $10.
 For filing of each certificate of notice for a certificate of valuations, $25.

Stress is being laid by the commissioners upon the fact that the fee must be paid when the application or certificate is filed. The new fees are in addition to those which have been charged since the public service company law was enacted, and which remains in force. Members of the commission point out that if the new fees do not accompany the applications much useless correspondence will be entailed; the papers cannot be received formally until the fee is paid.

AMERICA'S BOARD OF WAR DIRECTORS

JULIUS ROSENWALD
 People visiting a certain building in Washington are apt to meet hustling through the halls a short, compact and well-groomed man, with a penetrating eye and the habit of economy of speech. That's Julius Rosenwald, chairman of the Committee on Supplies of the Council of National Defense, on his daily walk through the corridors planning new "stunts" in the government's interest.

He is both unassuming and impersonal in his methods, but so well has he applied mail-order methods (he's president of the Sears, Roebuck Co., of Chicago) to buying the government's clothing and good, that most officials have ceased to worry how the new army is to be equipped. Rosenwald's problem was—where can we buy this material, which dealers ought to share in our orders and what prices ought we to pay. Believing that in the present crisis there is little need for the middleman he has coordinated the buying of the army and navy and assisted the departments to deal directly with the producers.

So far the Braves have failed to make good on early season predictions. The Stallings crowd were touted as being of the top-notch variety, but the dope has gone wrong.

BRITISH WARSHIP BLOWS UP; 773 MAY HAVE LOST LIVES

Vessel's Complement in Peace was 870 and 97 are Known to Have Survived; Explosion Mystery

London, July 13.—The British battleship Vanguard blew up and sank on July 9, says an official statement issued tonight by the British admiralty.

An internal explosion while the ship was at anchor caused the disaster to the Vanguard. Only three men of those on board survived and one of them has since died. Twenty-four officers and seventy-one men, however, were not on board at the time of the explosion.

The official statement reads: "H. M. S. Vanguard, Captain James D. Dick, blew up while at anchor on the night of July 9 as the result of an internal explosion.

"The ship sank immediately and there were only three survivors among those aboard ship at the time of the disaster—one officer and two men. The officer has since died. There were, however, twenty-four officers and seventy-one men not on board at the time, thus bringing the total number of survivors to ninety-seven.

A full inquiry has been ordered."

The Vanguard displaced 19,250 tons and its complement before the war was 870 men. On this basis 773 or more men may have died in the explosion. The Vanguard belonged to the B. C. Vincent class of dreadnoughts, 18-inch guns, eighteen 4-inch and four 6-inch secondary guns. The Vanguard was 536 feet long with a beam of 84 feet and a draught of 27 feet. Its armament consisted of ten 1-pounders, in addition to three torpedo tubes.

WILSON TAKES A HAND IN ARIZONA RIOTS

Phoenix, Ariz., July 13.—Governor Campbell this morning received the following message from President Wilson:

"Secretary of War has instructed General Parker to send officers to Arizona at once to report to him conditions there with a view to co-operating in the maintenance of order.

"Meantime may I not respectfully urge the great danger of citizens taking the law into their own hands, as your report indicates their having done. I look upon such actions with grave apprehensions. A very serious responsibility is assumed when such precedents are set."

GOETHALS TO RUSH SHIPS BY HUNDRED

Will Build Two Big Government Yards Quickly to Turn Out 400 Steel Vessels

Washington, D. C., July 13.—An announcement was made tonight by Major General George W. Goethals, manager of the Shipping Board's Emergency Fleet corporation, that on Monday he will offer contracts for construction of two government shipbuilding plants to produce 400 steel merchant ships.

The announcement was made in a letter Chairman Denman, of the shipping board, which outlined the general's entire shipbuilding program under authority given the Fleet corporation yesterday by President Wilson. Within 18 months, the General said, he expects to turn out 3,000,000 tons of shipping.

On Monday, General Goethals also will outline to the country's shipbuilders his plans for commandeering 500,000 tons of shipping under construction for private account. This will be taken over completely and its reconstruction expedited by giving government contracts. As soon as the yards are cleared, each will be directed to start building a standardized ship.

The Fleet corporation, General Goethals announced, will continue to let all contracts for wooden ships of a design approved by the corporation's architect, for which bids can be obtained by responsible bidders. Additional contracts for both fabricated and wooden vessels, General Goethals says, will require more than Congress has authorized.

Lesson III.—Third Quarter, For July 15, 1917.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, II Chron. xxx, 1-13. Memory Verses, 11, 12—Golden Text, Heb. xi, 6—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The story of Hezekiah, son of Ahaz, who reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem and who did right in the sight of the Lord, working good and right and truth before the Lord his God and doing it with all his heart, so that there was none like him among all the kings of Judah either before him or after him in the matter of trusting in the Lord God of Israel (II Chron. xxx, 2; xxxi, 20, 21; II Kings xviii, 5), occupies eleven chapters of Scripture (II Kings xviii-xx; II Chron. xxx-xxxii; Isa. xxxvi-xxxviii). When we consider that these kings were spoken of as sitting on the throne of the Lord, to be kings for the Lord their God (I Chron. xxi, 23; II Chron. ix, 8), we see more clearly the monstrous sin of Ahaz and the great contrast in his son, whose name signifies the strength of Jehovah and which he so well illustrated during the greater part of his life. Our lesson chapter tells of the great passover which he kept for all Israel from Dan to Beersheba, and this feast always points us in three directions—to the night of the nation's birth, to Christ our passover crucified for us and to the rebirth of the nation in the future when they shall be gathered from all nations and the passover shall be fulfilled in the kingdom of God.

Let us look a little at the rest of his story before we take up the day's lesson. He began his good reign by opening the doors of the house of the Lord, which his wicked father had closed up, and by cleansing the temple of its filthiness, which occupied them sixteen days (xxix, 3-5, 17). He set the priests and Levites to work with the inspiring and encouraging words of xxix, 11, and, having restored the vessels which his father had cast away, he made atonement for all Israel and had the true worship restored with praises and gladness and rejoicing (xxix, 24, 30, 30). Then they kept the great passover, sending invitations throughout all Israel and Judah, urging all to turn to the Lord God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel and yield themselves unto the Lord (xxx, 1-9).

Although some laughed the invitation to scorn and mocked, there were those of Asher and Manasseh and Zebulun who humbled themselves and came to Jerusalem to keep the feast (xxx, 10-12). They found such joy in keeping the feast of unleavened bread spake to the heart of all the Levites and the priests praising the Lord day by day and teaching the good knowledge of the Lord, and Hezekiah so spake to the heart of all the Levites, that the whole assembly took counsel to keep the feast seven days more, which they did with gladness, and there was not so great joy in Jerusalem since the time of Solomon. The praise and prayer were heard in heaven, the habitation of His holiness (xxx, 21-27). The contrast between this and the sin and unbelief and rebellion of Ahaz's reign helps us to understand just a little better the contrast between Israel's present unbelief and suffering and the time, drawing ever nearer, when they shall obtain joy and gladness and sorrow and sighing shall flee away (Isa. xxxv, 10; II, 11).

After this great passover and time of rejoicing there followed a cleansing of the land as far as possible from idolatry and idols, and the brazen serpent which Moses had made in the wilderness and which Israel was now worshipping as an idol was destroyed (xxx, 1; II Kings xviii, 4). Such a turning from idols to God to serve the Living and True God (I Thess. i-9) was too much for the devil to take quietly, and so he stirred up Sennacherib and his hosts to go up against Jerusalem and with great blasphemy defy the Living God, the God of Israel. Hezekiah encouraged his princes and people with the words of chapter xxix, 7, 8, saying, "With him is an arm of flesh, but with us is the Lord our God to help us and to fight our battles." Hezekiah, the king, and the prophet Isaiah prayed and cried to heaven as they spread the wicked letters before the Lord and asked the Living God so to work on behalf of His people and because of His name, which had been so reproached, that which had been so reproached, that all the kingdoms of the earth might know that He was the Lord God, and He only (xxxii, 20; II Kings xix, 14-19).

Note the same great desire on the part of Joshua and David (Josh. iv, 24; I Sam. xvii, 46, 47). That God may be glorified should be the one and constant aim of every believer (Phil. i, 20; I Pet. iv, 14). That night the prayer of the king and the prophet was answered by the angel of the Lord passing over the Assyrian host and taking off the earth 185,000 men. Sennacherib returned to Nineveh and was slain by his own sons (II Kings xix, 35-37). The great of Hezekiah's story is not so honoring to the Lord. He became sick unto death and was told by Isaiah that his time had come to die. But he prayed to the Lord with sore weeping, and the Lord added to his life fifteen years and gave him a wonderful sign on the sundial (Isa. xxxviii, 1-8). Some of his words on this occasion are very memorable.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

For the Protection of Paige Purchasers

A Prophecy of Particular Interest to Prospective Motor Car Buyers

The Paige is practically the last to raise prices. We have stood the material raises patiently. At last we confront the inevitable.

However, you will observe in reading Paige prices below that in no instance has the increase been more than $100—although some cars in the same relative price class as the Paige now cost $200 more than heretofore. We are able to give Paige purchasers this discrimination because they are getting the benefit of the prices at which we bought large quantities of materials on contract months ago.

This advance in the prices now asked for Paige cars by no means covers the actual increase in the cost of materials. The Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company is still making a substantial sacrifice in offering Paige cars at these prices.

These Paige cars are therefore more remarkable values than ever before—and the Paige, you know, has always led the field in values.

There has been no compromise in Paige quality, no juggling of the factors, little or big, that have won Paige leadership. Not one iota has the Paige standard been lowered.

In view of these facts, Paige cars remain at the present prices the greatest dollar for dollar value the market affords.

However, the market for materials is rising steadily. The cost of producing a car of Paige quality continues to soar. We estimate that we have enough materials contracted for and on hand to permit us to maintain present prices for approximately 60 to 90 days. When this supply of materials is exhausted, it will then, obviously, be necessary for us to raise prices, and even then Paige prices will be raised only in proportion to the increased prices of materials on new contracts.

Our one anxiety, as has always been our policy, is to give Paige purchasers every protection and consideration. We desire to be frank and give fair warning.

The price problem, however, is never a determining factor in the progress of the Paige in winning the preference and confidence of the public. The Paige has always won its way independent of price tags and the artificial labels of price class.

We have always refused and will always refuse to raise Paige prices beyond the actual increased cost of materials.

Therefore, now, as before, you will select the Paige because of its mechanical excellence, its beauty and its supreme quality.

GRAMPIAN

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. visited the county home and presented every inmate with a bouquet and some good literature to read and was pleased with the fine condition they found the home in.

The Primary scholars of the M. E. Sunday school enjoyed a picnic on Tuesday and had their pictures taken.

It would be better if some men in Gramplan would pay more attention to their own wives and let the single men have the smiles of the girls.

What will we go to after Saturday night when the "pic" will be closed for repairs.

FAVORITE THRESHERS

As Mechanically Perfect as Your Automobile.

Particular attention to mechanical detail has made this Favorite Thresher a success. The motive power for the screen is an eccentric movement which does away with broken shafts just when you are the busiest.

The cylinder is of the NINE BAR type. The concave is a perfect casting, easily reversed. You can use one side for oats and hard grains and the other being ribbed, you use for buckwheat and hard grains when the grain is very dry.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

June 28, 1917.

Dear Mother—

I thought I would drop you a few lines to let you know that I am well and hope that you are all the same, and say mother don't send any more of those stamps for they are no good here. Look at the envelope that this letter is in and you will see that the stamp is different from the U. S. stamps.

We are going on the range to shoot next month and after I am thru I will write to you and let you know how I make out, whether I make a marksman or not.

Well mother I like the army so far and you know what people say about the food. Well, that is a lie for we get as good a grade of food as they get in the states.

I have five uniforms and two wool

shirts that if you had to buy would cost four dollars, and three pairs of shoes that will cost about $6, eight suits of underwear, 2 hats that will cost five dollars each and I have eight dollars due from the government besides my pay.

I am going hunting next Saturday and Sunday. I will try and get the captain's picture if I can.

Well I guess I will close for this time, but before I close I want to ask you to send me some papers.

I got a letter from Will the other day and he said to let him know if I wanted anything and I told him that I wanted some Camels to smoke.

Good by.

TODAY'S THRIFT THOUGHT

Do you throw away "ham gravy" or bacon fat, Madam Housewife? Because it is too greasy for ordinary use? Here is a way suggested to make it blend into soups or gravies instead of floating as a greasy layer on top.

Stir into each two tablespoons of melted grease one-half tablespoon of flour. The mixture will blend easily into milk soups, stock soups, sauces or gravies and give an appetizing flavor.

Flour $3.50 per sack at the Workman's Cash stores.

ON THE SCREEN

"A WOMAN'S AWAKENING" BRINGS SEENA OWEN

"A Woman's Awakening," the Triangle Fine-Arts picture directed by Chester Withey and starring Seena Owen, which will be shown at the Tent theatre Monday presents the problem of a young woman attempting to maintain her ideals and independence after marriage to a young rake, whose only aim is to dissipate her fortune.

The role is an admirable one for the return of Miss Owen to the screen after a retirement of several months. She is surrounded by a cast that includes Alma Rueben, heroine of "The Americano," A. D. Sears, Kate Brice and Alberta Lee.

The story, which is the work of Frank E. Woods, concerns a young girl reared in the secluded manner of the old school so that she knows nothing of the worldly life. She marries a young society man, who promises to introduce her to the "real world" where men and women enjoy perfect equality. But he soon reveals that he married her only for her money. The girl's mother is an invalid, and the only friend to whom she may have recourse for advice is a lawyer and a former admirer of her. One night the husband is murdered just as he is preparing to leave the house with the balance of his wife's fortune. Both the wife and the lawyer are suspected of the crime. The spectators, as well as the characters of the play, are mystified until the big moment of revelation.

Lotta Savings Is Unquestionably a Dominating Influence In The Success of Our July Clearance

When we adopted the character of "Lotta Savings" to typify the many saving opportunities of our July Clearance, we must admit we did not realize the force and the dominating influence she would have on the values we were compelled to provide. Having incorporated "Lotta Savings" as an authority at our July Clearance, it is only natural that we insist that the values be in complete harmony with the idea. That our customers have been eager to seize the opportunity to save, need not be gone into here. A visit to our store any day will convince you at once that the values are such as to influence continuous and liberal purchasing.

In many cases the lots are too small to advertise, but you will find the savings just as big as any we have advertised in previous announcements.
